Fr. Křížka 1, 170 00 Prague 7, Czech Republic

Ideological Basis of the Democratic Club

- 1) Democracy is a ruling system of people; people are defined as a universe of human beings living in a certain territory irrespective of their sex, race, language, nationality, origin, profession, wealth, social position, level of education, religious affiliation, political or other orientation. All individuals have equal rights and duties in democracy; the same concerns informal components of society and organizations of an identical type.
- 2) Democracy is the best form of social organization. It is necessary to strive for its achievement, maintenance and progress by urging a higher level of democratism within a society.
- 3) It is necessary to contribute to this level of democratism in a society by the consistent, durable and purposeful activity of an independent non-party political organization fully focused on fulfilling this goal. Such an organization is the Democratic Club.
